Acknowledgement of Country

We acknowledge the Kurna people as the custodians of the Greater Adelaide region and that their cultural, spiritual, and heritage beliefs are still as important to the living Kurna people today.

We acknowledge the traditional owners of Country throughout Australia and pay respect to Elders past, present, and emerging.

About UnitingCare Wesley Bowden

UCWB has been supporting the Adelaide community for more than 160 years.

Today, we are a team of over 180 staff and volunteers providing essential community services including aged care, childcare, disability services, emergency assistance, family support, financial health support, and mental health support.

Guided by the values of respect, integrity, trust, and courage, we strive to deliver innovative, tailored services that support individual and community wellbeing.

Letter from our Board Chair & Interim Chief Executive

Alison Kimber
Board Chair

The past 12-months have seen significant change for UCWB as an organisation, with the loss of long-term programs and staff occurring alongside the development of new, innovative services and partnerships.

In December 2020, we farewelled our Chief Executive, Fiona Kelly. Fiona joined UCWB in 2011 as General Manager, stepping into the Chief Executive role in 2016. On behalf of the UCWB Board, we would like to thank Fiona for her contribution and service to UCWB and wish her all the best on her future endeavours.

Following Fiona's departure, Board member Stephen Faulkner was appointed as UCWB Interim Chief Executive to lead the organisation through a transformative restructure and change program. The restructure allowed UCWB to focus on its goal of achieving long-term positive outcomes for individuals and communities.

A streamlined executive and management structure was implemented with the appointment of two General Managers and four service delivery managers to build our Aged Care, Allied Health, Child and Family, and Social Programs divisions.

Under Stephen's guidance, UCWB launched several organisational-wide projects focused on service improvement and long-term sustainability. We commenced the procurement of a new Client Management System, which will improve client interaction and provide timely, accurate, and meaningful reporting at all levels. As part of the UCWB Strategic Asset Plan, we divested from ancillary properties that were no longer servicing a need for the organisation.

Operational staff commenced preparation for upcoming accreditations including Aged Care, NDIS, and Service Excellence and reviewed existing process, practice, and service offering to better align to client need. This review has resulted in the expansion of our home care service offering to include the delivery of in-home nursing services for our aged care and NDIS clients.

Stephen Faulkner
Interim Chief Executive
Dec 2020 to Sep 2021

Throughout this period of continued change, we have been impressed with the passion, dedication, and resilience of UCWB staff. Staff have maintained an exceptionally high level of service, delivering tailored supports that respond to community need.

In particular, we would like to acknowledge the efforts of the Inner Southern Homelessness team. Over the past decade, this team have supported thousands of people to access safe and sustainable housing. At the end of June 2021, UCWB regrettably closed our Marion office, after an unsuccessful consortium bid to continue delivering homelessness support services across Central and Southern Adelaide. The professionalism and dedication demonstrated by the Inner Southern team during this time of transitioning clients to new providers was exceptional and we thank them for their commitment to the Southern Adelaide community.

Strengthening collaboration and partnerships with other not-for-profit agencies was a focus for UCWB in 2020-21. We secured additional funding and commenced new programs with consortiums including Financial Health Network Emergency Relief, Links to Wellbeing, Martinthi, Walking Together, and Wellness Connect. We value our ongoing partnerships with these agencies and the opportunities they provide for continual improvement, shared learning, innovation, and improved outcomes through wrap-around service delivery.

Our service innovation was also recognised this year, with Flinders University evaluating our Unplugged program. Unplugged was developed by UCWB in 2018 and is a school-based psychoeducation and gambling prevention program that involves a 2-hour workshop facilitated by Child and Family team social workers. Unplugged aims to provide students and parents with accessible and practical information about gaming and gambling activities, as well as strategies for managing their online activities.

The independent Flinders University evaluation findings were extremely positive, with both parents and students reporting significant increases in their understanding of gambling activities, as well as rating the workshops at a consistently high level in terms of content, engagement, and speaker quality. The Child and Family team are using valuable client feedback from this evaluation to refresh Unplugged with additional funding secured from the Office of Gambling to deliver more workshops in 2021-22.

As we continue to refine our service offering, UCWB is ensuring client voice and experience is at the forefront. During the year, UCWB engaged the Lived Experience and Leadership Advocacy Network (LELAN) for guidance on how to meaningfully involve clients and people with lived experience in our service design, service delivery, and governance. LELAN facilitated a series of co-design workshops which captured the thoughts and experiences of UCWB clients, as well as staff members, and management. We will continue to work with LELAN in the coming year to develop a blueprint for embedding client voice and lived experience across the organisation.

We are very excited that this work will be spearheaded by our newly appointed Chief Executive, Helen Sheppard, who commenced in September 2021. Helen has 25 years senior leadership, operations, and business development expertise in the health, disability, and community sectors. Helen's passion for client experience and outcomes-driven practice will continue to see UCWB achieve its aspiration.

As we look ahead to the opportunities that 2021-22 has in store, we would like to thank our staff, volunteers, funders, donors, and partners who have supported UCWB throughout the last 12-months. Your contributions and commitment are greatly appreciated, and we look forward to your continued support into the future.

Client voice & experience

We're striving to involve clients in decisions on how our services are delivered. Here's what some of our clients had to say in 2020-21.

Young People First, Carers Second research

In 2019, UCWB received a two-year Discovery Grant from the Fay Fuller Foundation to undertake lived experience research with young people who provide care for family members.

The Young People First, Carers Second Research Project followed 52 young South Australians, aged between 9 to 26, across a two-year journey of change. The young people took part in a series of workshops and forums, culminating in a three-day 'Caring Camp'. The Caring Camp empowered 20 young people aged 15 to 18 to take on the roles of peer educators, co-researchers, and policy influencers.

With the support of UCWB's Lived Experience Researcher, the young people explained how services, systems, and the sector shifted for them as a result of the National Carers Reform. They identified strengths and shortcomings of viewing young people from a carer lens, in addition to service gaps that exist across the lifespan.

Based on these findings, UCWB has committed to adapting, evolving, and changing the way we do things to do right by young people who provide care. Read the Young People First, Carers Second Research Report at ucwb.org.au.

A carers guide to navigating the NDIS for her sons

In November 2020, the Allied Health team started a series of lived experience information sessions. The first presentation was by Pat Sutton, a carer who regularly attends our Resource Options and Support for Carers groups.

Pat shared her experience of navigating the NDIS and supporting her two sons with psychosocial disabilities, her role as a disability advocate, and the importance of consumer empowerment and choice.

Other clients found the session extremely supportive, with one carer stating that “hear[ing] someone else’s experience dealing with the NDIS system gives me hope to strive and get more help for my child”.

Thank you for sharing your experience with us, Pat!

Financial health clients share their experiences

On 1 June 2021, a stakeholder session was held at the Marion UCWB office to discuss financial counselling services from the perspective of clients accessing support.

In attendance were the South Australian Financial Counsellors Association (SAFCA) and Nat Cook MP, the Shadow Minister for Human Services.

UCWB financial health clients shared their experience of financial hardship with Ms Cook and SAFCA representatives and explained how financial counselling services have helped in their recovery.

Our clients also shared their perspective on how the system could be improved to be more accessible and better support financially vulnerable people.

Thank you volunteers

In May 2021, UCWB held a special lunch at Jarmer's Kitchen in Bowden to say thank you to our wonderful volunteers. In 2020-21, we were supported by 38 volunteers who gave hundreds of hours of service. We were able to offer eight former volunteers paid employment. To all of our amazing volunteers, thank you for your contribution! We couldn't do what we do without you.
